

Title: Capybara Madness

By: Damian

One day Carl, Steve, and Timmy were camping in the forest. They believed that if you said capybara three times then one capybara would appear. So, the three boys said it three times, but nothing happened right away. Then, POOF one capybara appeared, however, the boys wanted more, so they said it two hundred times.

Now hundreds of the capybaras were roaming the street. The worst thing was if the capybaras ate, they would basically turn into a capyzilla. (and yes, they ate everything, including cars and buildings) The three boys ran for a while until they thought they were safe, but then the real capybaras pulled up for a real party.

One capybara picked a song and played it on the boom box, and they danced to the song max volume. The capybaras were slowly turning into monsters. While the capybaras were changing into capyzillas, the boys ran to the highest point of the building. Then they made 3 crossbows for each boy. Slowly they came back down, and they shot it at the capyzillas. The effect was that the capyzillas were turning back into normal capybaras.

After, the boys decided to make a capybara village. It took the boys a long time to build the village, but when the village was finally finished, all two hundred and one capybaras decided to party for three hours. They never left the village and continued to party for many years.

Hey at least they left cupcakes, Doritos, and some cake on all the one hundred and twenty long tables outside the village!

THE END.
